DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Karavakis (5,663,106). Karavakis teaches a body having a first and second opposing surfaces (Figure 7, Item 46) and a number of depressions formed in the first surface so as to receive pins of a floating pin field when placed on a floating pin field during connection of the floating pin field to a PCB, wherein each depression is configured to receive only one of the pins (Figure 7, Item 46). It is the examiner's position that the floating pins assembly and the circuit board are process limitations that hold little patentable weight.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,743,009 (Matsui) in view of Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA). Matsui teaches a jig having depressions to accommodate a chain of contact pin parts that pass throughout the center and outer regions (see Figure 12, Item 216); depressions are formed in rows along the perimeter of the body (Figure 12, Item 216); use of a material that exhibits substantially no warping during reflow (Column 6, Lines 40-45); depressions at the surface are greater than the diameter of the inside of the body (Figure 12, Item 216); the plurality of depressions having angles less than 90 degrees (Figure 13, item 216); a field carrier coupled to the plurality of pins (figure 12, item 211); wherein the alignment weight further includes a plurality of passages that pass through a thickness of the alignment weight (figure 12, item 216). AAPA teaches the use of pins without the use of a linking member to form chains (Page 1, Lines 15-30) and pins extending throughout the workpiece (see Figure 12, Items 216 and Figure 1, Item 4). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the jig of Matsui to utilize substantially circular holes in order to accommodate pressing against the singular pins in order to ensure the pin parts are connected to the circuit board (see Matsui Column 8, Lines 1-7 and AAPA paragraphs 3-4).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 1725

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-16 rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,648,204. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of US 6,648,204 encompass the subject matter of the instant application.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
